Alameda County Office of Education
Cesar Chavez After School Program Prospectus
John Muir and Bancroft Middle Schools, San Leandro

Overall: Curriculum development, professional development, technical assistance, individual coaching, and special guest speakers for two San Leandro USD After School programs at John Muir and Bancroft Middle Schools.

Curriculum Development: Adapt curriculum from a variety of sources, including icebreakers, leadership activities, Cesar Chavez materials, civic leader materials (Martin Luther King, Jr., Fred Korematsu, others), service-learning and other materials.

Professional Development: Monthly two-hour professional development sessions. These sessions will consist of curriculum and activities that prepare staff to implement the Cesar Chavez After School Program.

Materials from Curriculum Development will be given to participants at monthly professional development sessions and further refined after feedback from after school staff.

Technical Assistance: Monthly visits to both the John Muir and Bancroft Middle School campuses to meet with after school staff. Meetings will include check-ins and specialized instruction to assist Program implementation.

Individualized Coaching: Coaching to help after school staff members plan, develop, and implement service-learning projects throughout the year. Instruction on the service-learning teaching pedagogy and assistance in tailoring projects is also included.

Special Guest Speakers: Site sessions for Cesar Chavez After School Club students with Anthony Chavez, grandson of Cesar Chavez and Karen Korematsu, daughter of Fred Korematsu. At these sessions, students will have the opportunity to learn about these civil rights heroes and learn how to extend their legacy.

Cost: $12,000